* = Top 200 List

Organization names in this economic impact study are listed as they were received from 44 different mailing lists and are not necessarily the official organization name or the "doing business as" (DBA) name registered with the California Department of State or Dun and Bradstreet. Based on a cross check by name only, 26 percent of the nonprofit organizations in this study are in California's Creative Industries list. This is not a precise comparison. For example, a symphony orchestra at a street address for this report could be the same organization as the Friends of the Symphony Orchestra at a PO Box in the Creative Industries list. Given, this, the probability for underestimation is high.
